

Guest Artists

Chris Priestley A well known figure in the Auckland Folk Scene for many years and proprietor of the great Atomic Café on Ponsonby Road (now 121 Café) where he showcased a huge variety of talented musicians. Chris a talented folk musician himself has recently lived in Dunedin but sadly has had to return north but not without promising to return and make this a special event on his calendar. He may also bring a few friends.

Vic McDonald and Slattery's Ashes These guys formally known as "Shiner" were pretty special to me when I first arrived in Dunedin ten years ago. They've agreed to bring the shrewd old 'anti-sweat' swagger back to life for this very special occasion and feature many of Vic's great original songs.

Delgirl Do they need introduction? Together now for ten years. They were newish some years ago at Whitestone. They loved it, we loved them and they're back. It seems after I asked them to come in 2010 every other folk festival has done the same. Why wouldn't they, 2009 Tui Folk winners with many more awards to come. You've probably seen them already but I bet you haven't had anywhere near enough.

And you know they'll be plenty more great performers who'll show up as well...they always do.
